Dulles Thinks Soviet Blood Bath Unlikely

Forecasts Failure Of Any Soviet Drive To Regain Control

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today that even if the Russians used military force in Poland he did not think they would succeed in putting down the Polish Communists' drive toward freedom from Moscow control.

Dulles also said in a television interview that he did not think "we would send our own armed forces" to oppose the Soviets if the Russians did move.

He said that would "precipitate World War III" and would result in "wiping out" the people struggling for freedom.

That would be the last thing they would want, he said.

Dulles made clear that the United States looks with favor on the development of an independent Communist government for Poland. He said anything which "weakens this great structure of Soviet Communist power and leads to its breaking up" is in the interest of the United States.

Gradual Process

The United States would like to see democracy in Poland and many other countries, he said, but "that is a system which can only be spread throughout the world gradually."

Dulles appeared on the CBS television program "Face the Nation" after the White House indicated its belief that U. S. aid to Communist Yugoslavia, especially President Eisenhower's decision last week to continue that aid, had helped encourage the Polish leadership to assert its own independence of Soviet control.

As the secretary spoke, reports from Poland quoted an informed source as saying the Polish Communist party had swept the Stalinists from the Politburo and restored once-purged Wladislaw Gomulka to a key post in the Warsaw government.

Dulles Sees No Blood Bath

Questioned closely about reports of Soviet troop movements in Poland, Dulles said there had been no confirmation of such reports.

He went further and declared his belief that there will not be any "blood bath" in the Polish crisis.

"It is unlikely," he said, "that an effort will be made to put this—the Polish revolt—down by mass military means."

At the same time he said he did not think that the liberation of Poland would "happen overnight." He suggested that it would be a long, step-by-step process.

Butler Demands Ike Order Hall Testimony

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 (AP)—Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler said today President Eisenhower should "direct" Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall to testify under oath in a House investigation of federal contract negotiations.

Butler said in a statement that "charges of political shakedowns" in connection with the award of contracts for expansion of a government nickel plant at Nicaro, Cuba, demand an immediate answer.

Hall has said that because of his campaign activities he will not be able to testify until after the election. He said he would be glad to testify then. A House Government Operations Subcommittee making the inquiry had invited Hall to appear last week.

Ike Denounces Bulganin's Letter

Storm Survivors Sought In Gulf

GALVESTON, Tex., Oct. 21 (AP)—A plane and Coast Guard boats searched the Gulf of Mexico today for a missing man and persons thought to be stranded on oil rigs and small boats in the wake of a storm that caused three deaths yesterday.

During the height of the storm 42,000 football fans at College Station sat in the rain-soaked stands unaware that a tornado warning had been issued for the area. Stadium officials said no announcement was made of the warning for fear panic would result. Minutes after the Texas A&M-Texas Christian game ended the rain stopped and the sun came out.

Boats were capsized, a house destroyed and others damaged by winds of up to 110 miles per hour and by tornadoes.

The Coast Guard said about 24 boats were capsized and about 60 persons were rescued from oil rigs, reefs and tiny islands. Thirteen were rescued from the water, dikes and jetties.

Evins Charges "Interference" In U.S. Agencies

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 (AP)—Rep. Evins (D-Tenn.) said today there has been "political interference" and "White House guidance" in the affairs of federal regulatory agencies.

In a public statement, Evins said an investigation has revealed "some astonishing conduct on the part of the individuals who have been appointed during the past few years to serve as the chairmen of these individual agencies."

Evins was chairman of a House Small Business Subcommittee which held open hearings in 1955 and 1956 on the conduct of five agencies and their effect on small business.

Agencies Identified

The five are the Federal Trade Commission, Federal Power Commission, Federal Communications Commission, Civil Aeronautics Board and Securities and Exchange Commission.

Evins' report to the committee on the hearings, made available today, said power over regulation of interstate commerce has become centralized in the president and has been "misused" in the executive branch.

The report noted that the Constitution gave Congress the power to regulate commerce. It recommended that Congress act to remove "centralized" power from the executive branch.

In his statement, Evins said a preliminary draft of his report had been leaked to "outsiders," and objections from some of these, he said, has filtered to members of the committee.

"Lobbying Effort"

"This, in my opinion, has been done as a sort of a lobbying effort to influence the committee against issuance of the report," Evins said. His statement added: "It appears that the unauthorized circulation of the earlier unfinished draft of the report among outside persons is expanding rapidly. For example, it has just been reported that officials of the two major networks, NBC and CBS, and also former chairmen of some of the agencies are reviewing, criticizing and perhaps advising persons in responsible positions on course they desire to be taken regarding this report."

He did not name any former chairmen.

Israel Asked To Pardon American Woman "Spy"

TEL AVIV, Israel, Oct. 21 (AP)—A lawyer for Mary Frances Hagan said today she is facing harsh prison life bravely.

"She is really brave," said Max Kritzman, Tel Aviv attorney who defended her.

Kritzman visited the American woman twice in the last week. He said he informed her he had applied to Israeli President Ishak Ben-Zvi for a pardon from her one-year sentence for spying on Israel for Syria. Kritzman told a reporter he would apply to the Parole Committee if the President turns down the application.

He said Miss Hagan, 29, is sharing a cell with an Israeli woman awaiting trial for allegedly putting poison in a pudding at a collective farm. The cellmate is accused of attempted murder.

Kritzman said he based his plea

Red Boss Hit For Campaign Interference

President Declares His Own Sincerity Seemingly Attacked

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 (AP)—President Eisenhower today accused Soviet Premier Bulganin of meddling in the American election campaign. He said Bulganin's H-bomb letter seemingly attacked "my own sincerity," and contained a statement "personally offensive to me."

This sharp language—the strongest ever used by Eisenhower in a communication to the Soviet leader—marked a reply by the President to a letter in which Bulganin urged an agreement to halt H-bomb tests.

Shortly after the White House made the correspondence public, Senate Republican Leader Knowledge of California called on Adlai Stevenson to "repudiate the unwarranted interference of Premier Bulganin . . . in our free American elections."

Knowledge said the Democratic presidential candidate, who has been advocating efforts to agree on an early end to H-bomb testing, should act "in the interests of Americans presenting a united front."

There was no immediate comment on this from Stevenson. But before seeing Eisenhower's reply to Bulganin, Stevenson put out a statement in Chicago which said "the White House seems to have dismissed the Russian offer out of hand."

U.S. "Not Discouraged"

Stevenson acted after a statement last night by White House press secretary James Hagerty which termed the Bulganin letter "a propaganda exercise rather than a serious attempt to achieve understanding between heads of state."

Although Eisenhower's letter to note of rebuke, it said the United States is "not discouraged" in its quest for disarmament.

In fact, Eisenhower said he was accepting Bulganin's letter, rather than returning it to the Russian Embassy, "not because I am tolerant of these departures from accepted international practices, but because I still entertain the hope that direct communication between us may serve the cause of peace."

Eisenhower detailed these four points on which he said Bulganin had ignored diplomatic practices:

1. It was "interference by a foreign nation in our internal affairs" to send a letter "in the midst of a national election campaign" which voiced approval of the opinions of "certain prominent public figures in the United States" who advocate an early agreement on ending H-bomb tests.

Bulganin mentioned no names but it was plain he referred to Stevenson among others.

2. Publication by Russia yesterday of the text of Bulganin's letter "before it could be carefully translated and delivered to me," made it necessary for Eisenhower "to release this reply immediately."

Bulganin's letter was delivered to the State Department Friday, while Eisenhower was on a Western campaign trip. The Moscow radio broadcast its contents before Eisenhower got back to Washington last night.

3. " . . . Your statement with respect to the secretary of state is not only unwarranted, but is personally offensive to me."

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 21 (AP)—Phil Silvers, the brash Sgt. Bilko of television, was married today to Evelyn Patrick, Orlando, Fla., TV beauty.

The brief ceremony was performed by Max Schwartz, justice of the peace of nearby Woodbridge, in his New Haven law office.

The wedding party included Freddie Fields, Silvers' agent, and actress Polly Bergen.

It was the second marriage for Silvers, 44. His first wife was the former Jo Carol Dennison, Miss America of 1942.

Jordan Elects New Parliament

AMMAN, Jordan, Oct. 21 (AP)—The first Communist member of Jordan's Parliament appeared as a seat tonight as early returns from today's general election were reported.

The voting is expected to reflect rising anti-Western sentiment throughout the kingdom.

Dr. Yacoub Ziadin, a Communist on the Nationalist Leftist bloc ticket, took a commanding lead for the seat reserved for a Christian from Jerusalem. His opponent is Abdullah Nawas of the non-Communist leftist Arab Resurrection party.

Dr. Jawud Hussein, a cousin of the former grand mufti of Jerusalem, also appeared elected in Jerusalem.

The race for the third Jerusalem seat is a three-cornered battle between Anwar Khatib of the moderately anti-Western National Socialist party and two candidates considered friendly to the West, Anwar Nuseibeh and Kamel Areqat.

National Socialists appeared to have won both seats in the Essalt district where Abdil Halim Nimr, considered a strong possibility for premier, held a commanding lead.

In the capital, the count was slow in starting and no trend was apparent.

About half the country's 400,000 qualified voters went to the polls.

The couple left the desert oasis at midnight for the 120-mile drive to St. Joseph's Hospital in Burbank, Debbie's home town. The baby was born almost three weeks ahead of time.

Mau Mau Chief Shot, Captured

NAIROBI, Kenya, Oct. 21 (AP)—An African policeman fired at the flash of a leopard skin in some bushes today and the dreaded leader of Kenya's Mau Mau terror cult fell wounded with a scream.

The shots brought to an end a three-year hunt for self-styled "Field Marshall Sir" Dedan Kimathi. He is the 35-year-old almost mythical figure who masterminded a campaign of slaughter aimed at driving the white man out of Kenya.

Kimathi was lying slightly wounded in the thigh when the policeman dashed up. He had been hiding in bushes along a trail near Nyeri, about 100 miles from Nairobi. Deserted by the remnants of his once-numerous followers, Kimathi was clad in leopard skins and armed with a .38 revolver.

Tonight Kimathi was in the Nyeri African Hospital. Tomorrow he will be remanded at Nyeri Court provisionally charged with carrying a lethal weapon, a capital offense under the emergency regulations.

His shooting and capture took place as touring Princess Margaret slept in a Nairobi hotel. She was given the news by Gen. Sir Gerald Lathbury, British army commander in Africa, when she visited a British military hospital in Nairobi this morning.

Union President Held In Beatings

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21 (AP)—James G. Cross, international bakers union president from Washington, D.C., was accused today of taking part in the kidnaping and beating of three union officers opposing his leadership. The wife of one charged she also was beaten.

Arrested while at lunch in the Sheraton-Palace Hotel, Cross, 44, was booked at City Prison on suspicion of kidnaping and suspicion of assault with intent to do great bodily harm. Cross denied the charges and called them a "frame-up."

Four hours after he was jailed Cross put up $5,000 bail and was released.

The first convention of the International Union of Bakery and Confectionery Workers in five years opens Wednesday.

Cross' accusers were Joseph G. Kane, 42, president of the union's Long Island, N.Y., Local 525; Nathan Ehrlich, 56, president of New York Local 51, and Ehrlich's wife, Lillian, and Louis Genuth, 45, New York local secretary.

Adlai Declares Polish Revolt Freedom Step

CHICAGO, Oct. 21 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson said today the Polish revolt against Soviet rule is "a big step toward freedom for Poland" but "only a substitution of Communist masters."

The Democratic presidential nominee at the same time called on the Eisenhower administration to use more imagination in exploiting for the benefit of the free world both the Polish development and the new Russian proposal for negotiations with "United States to stop hydrogen bomb tests."

(A most simultaneous, in Washington, President Eisenhower denounced a letter from Russian Premier Bulganin proposing cessation of H-bomb tests as an "interference by a foreign nation in our internal affairs," and a seeming attack on "my own sincerity.")

Stevenson issued two statements from his Chicago headquarters shortly after attending church at Lake Forest, Ill., near his farm home, as he got ready for a new campaign swing starting at New York, with a Madison Square Garden rally Tuesday night.

On Poland, Stevenson said the revolt against Soviet domination there "resembles what happened in Yugoslavia when that country declared its independence from Stalin."

Referring to Yugoslav President Tito, the nominee said: "Titoism is contagious. The Polish struggle for national independence is a big step toward freedom for Poland from its Russian masters. But this is only a substitution of Communist masters."

"Even so, Polish independence of Moscow is a long step toward deliverance of the Polish people from communism."

In his other statement, commenting on the Russians' new proposal to stop H-bomb tests, Stevenson said it appears to be "nothing new" but he added "it is encouraging that Russia appears to be still disposed to curb these dreadful weapons."

Boy Playing In Box Struck, Killed By Car

(By The Associated Press)

A 6-year-old boy playing in a box on a Baltimore street was struck by a car and killed Sunday, increasing the State's 1956 traffic death toll to 428.

Nine persons killed in highway accidents during the weekend in Maryland sent this year's toll to 26 above the same period of 1955.

Four persons were killed Sunday.

Delroy Ricks, 6-year-old Negro, was inside a box in the street in front of his Baltimore home when a car, turning a corner, struck the box. The youngster died five hours later.

Man Believed Ex-Soviet Agent Wounds Intruder

NEW YORK, Oct. 21 (AP)—A man reported to be a former Soviet agent in constant fear of his life shot and critically wounded an intruder in his East Side apartment last night.

The shooting first took on the tones of an international cloak-and-dagger plot, but simmered down after 24 hours into what appeared to be an argument over ringing the wrong doorbell.

That was the version police seemed willing to accept, but the FBI, which quickly moved into the case, did not reveal its findings.

The Russian's past cropped up an hour after the shooting.

The FBI immediately began investigating, and top police brass dropped a curtain of official secrecy over the affair. They said they had been asked by a "federal agency" not to confirm that the man who did the shooting is Victor Kravchenko. They listed him as "Peter Martin," the name appearing with Kravchenko's on a permit for the gun.

Through the curtain of official secrecy came the following story of the shooting:

Martin—or Kravchenko—said two men rang his downstairs doorbell in an old brownstone house on E. 69th St. just off Fifth Ave., where he has a second-floor apartment. When he opened his door, they forced their way inside and began to beat him.

He broke away, rushed to the bedroom and got a .38-caliber revolver. One man knocked it out of his hand with a brass poker. He fell to the floor, clutching the gun and shot the man in the abdomen.

The critically wounded man, identified as Michael Garcia, 21, of Queens, a piano student and part-time employee of an exclusive Fifth Ave. china and glassware firm, was booked for felonious assault.

His companion, Joseph Ruiz, 23, escaped away, was picked up by police later. He told a different tale.

He said Garcia and he had gone with a friend to a third-floor apartment in the house. On leaving, Ruiz found he had left some keys behind but couldn't remember which apartment they had visited. They rang Martin's bell to get back into the building.

When Martin demanded who they were looking for, Garcia declared it was none of his business, and a fight started, Ruiz said.

Once-Purged Gomulka Gets Key Position

Politburo Reduced To Nine Members As Tension Eases

WARSAW, Poland, Oct. 21 (AP)—Polish Communists shook up the powerful politburo tonight, ousting Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky and other Stalinists and raising nationalist Wladyslaw Gomulka to leadership.

The party Central Committee announced the elevation of Gomulka—once purged as a Titoist—to the key post of first secretary after three days of intense Soviet pressure punctuated by reported clashes between Polish and Soviet troops. Warsaw was quiet tonight.

It was a sweeping victory for Gomulka, who issued a virtual declaration of independence from Moscow in a fiery speech to the Central Committee yesterday.

It was bitter defeat for Rokossovsky, Polish-born Soviet war hero installed by Stalin as Poland's defense minister. He may lose his defense post in a government shakeup arising from the party action.

Authoritative sources said he may be succeeded by Gen. Wacław Komar, himself imprisoned for three years as a Titoist. Komar is a former Polish general staff officer. He was freed last spring.

Other Communist quarters, however, thought Rokossovsky presently may keep the defense ministry.

Further Shakeup Expected

A thorough shakeup of the Polish government in line with the party leadership was expected within days, however.

In streamlining the politburo from 11 to 9 members, the party committee kicked out three deputy premiers and Franciszek Mazur, vice-president of Poland, in addition to Rokossovsky.

Tension eased in Warsaw as fears of an armed coup d'état by the Stalinist faction subsided.

Reports of armed clashes between Polish and Russian troops in the Polish countryside, especially on the Polish-East German frontier, were difficult to confirm.

Throughout the day thousands of resolutions supporting Gomulka and his independent policy poured into party headquarters in the Polish capital.

They included one from the Warsaw military academy declaring Poland's army "stands by its oath to the people and socialism and strongly opposes any attempt to draw a wedge between the army and the people."

The resolution also denounced "anti-intellectualism and anti-semitism."

Hungary May Be Next

Rokossovsky, who also is Poland's commander-in-chief as well as defense minister, and his allies have been reported pursuing an anti-semitic policy.

The Gomulka independents have been demanding Rokossovsky's ouster. They also have been demanding the withdrawal of a large number of Soviet officers in Poland's armed forces and the evacuation of all Russian troops on Polish soil.

Unconfirmed reports said Gomulka and his supporters already had received telegrams of congratulations from President Tito of Yugoslavia, Mao Tze-tung, ruler of Communist China, and Erno Geroe, first secretary of Hungary's Communist party.

Qualified sources in Warsaw said they expect Hungary to take a similar course and restore its former premier, Imre Nagy, to a position of power. Nagy was deposed in 1955 as a rightist but recently was restored to membership in the Communist party.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18—(INS)—What a great and warming story, the ditching of the Pan Am strato-cruiser 1,150 miles at sea and the coast guard's rescue of all 31 aboard!

The log alone, from the 4 a. m. item, "going to ditch" to the 9:05 message from the commander of the 14th Coast Guard District, Honolulu, "conducted like a bunch of champions: well done," reads like a taut, tense, wonderful novel. Pilot Richard Ogg, the crew and the people aboard lived through an incomparable adventure, saved by skill, courage and the magic of modern communications. The aviation industry owes a debt of gratitude to Ogg. More people will be attracted to ocean flying by this feat than will be discouraged.

It has been said that if the Andrea Doria was atomic powered her sinking might have ruined the multi-million dollar fishing industry off that part of the Massachusetts coast. Radiation from an American freighter which sank several weeks ago in the arctic—if it had been propelled by an atomic reactor—might have crippled Norway's sardine industry for perhaps years to come.

This is a sobering thought at the dawn of atomic powered ships. The navy's pioneering Nautilus has been in operation for more than a year without refueling. The navy has many more such submarines planned as well as several atomic powered aircraft carriers. The President's atomic powered good-will freighter is at last in the works.

But nuclear physicists surely will find a way out of the dilemma. If they can put a damper on such a monstrously big and irresponsible thing as an atomic cloud, they can find ways and means of keeping the sea unpoisoned.

Moroccans Retake City Of Tangier

The United States, in a manner of speaking, is losing some territory. The international city of Tangier, in Morocco—across the strait from Gibraltar—was largely governed by the International Legislative Assembly. The United States named one of the nine members of that assembly, all non-Moroccans. Morocco had only nominal sovereignty.

But since France conceded independence to Morocco last March under Sultan Mohammed V, Morocco has decided to run this 225 square miles herself. Negotiations are now under way to end foreign rule amicably, but it is already virtually at an end. And in the process the character of Tangier is changing.

The old Tangier was a fantastic place—a wide-open city where hashish was openly sold, brothels were conspicuous, and spies from a score of countries flourished. Tangier had no income tax, no tariff restrictions to speak of, and so little regulation of business and trade that corporations and investors could be anonymous. It had no industry of its own and even had to import food, but German cameras, American nylons, British woollens and French wines were cheaper there.

About one-third of the residents of Tangier were "Europeans," including Americans, and the rest were Moslems and Jews. Business was good there, what with vice, trade in exotic products, international currency speculation, and assorted intrigue. Curiously, gambling was somewhat restricted, largely because of Spain's attitude.

Things will be different now. The Moslems who are taking over are a puritanical lot. They have clamped down on prostitution and hashish and are getting tough with Moslems who ignore the Koran's injunction against alcohol. Business is subjected to more regulation. To replace tawdry tourist attractions, they may open a gambling casino.

The Moroccans are taking back the city that is theirs. They seem to be out to prove that they can do a better job of running it than foreigners did.

The Poor Registration

Where there is no system of permanent registration, the citizens seem, in spite of the efforts of politicians, the Advertising Council and other agencies, not to have done the best they might have. The registration is down.

Politicians try to explain the small registration as being bad for the other fellow. However, it is the United States that suffers because it can mean one of two things:

- The people have lost their enthusiasm for the electoral process; or
- The people are apathetic toward the candidates.

No people can move too far from their traditions without confusion and chaos. The United States politically is a two-party country, parties which differ in principle and which contend over issues. Bi-partisanship is not American historically and therefore runs counter to the character of the people. When there is no dispute, there is no interest and no enthusiasm.

It is for this reason that the party platform developed and the resolutions committee remains the most important committee at each convention, meeting over many days, listening to debates and representations. After the platform is passed by the convention, it is supposed to be binding upon the party and its candidates. But it is not binding upon anyone and is soon forgotten. Nevertheless, it is the basis for debate during the campaign and what the American people want is a debate. There has not been a debate on the foreign policy of the United States since 1932 and many voters are wondering why and many more feel that no matter which party is in office, the same faces are seen and the same names are heard and the same policies are pursued.

There is more dissatisfaction in the land than the leadership of either party is prepared to admit. But the dissatisfaction is not a partisan attitude; it is not over issues. It is perhaps due to more than 20 years of excitement and then a calm. The very peace and prosperity which are both the Eisenhower boast and promise are calming, quieting attitudes after the New Deal and war and the Fair Deal and Give 'em Hell. Stevenson is attempting to reawaken popular excitement with his H-bomb testing campaign but this is a lemon handed him by some adviser who never thought it out. Stevenson is now back to the 1946 Baruch-Acheson-Lilienthal plans.

In 1952, it was different. Eisenhower headed a crusade and many who had been with Roosevelt but had spurned Truman or had been spurned by him turned toward Eisenhower with an unparalleled enthusiasm. Curiously, even the Taft Republicans, led by Bob himself, went out to work for Ike. In 1956, it is quiet, not because there is disappointment with Eisenhower or no confidence in Stevenson, but because there is no fight over anything.

In desperation for an idea, the Democrats are reviving the smear on Nixon, which will do no better today than it did a month ago. The Republicans have come up with nothing more startling than "I like Ike." So, you do. So do most people. But what about an argument, a little controversy, a battle over the tariff, or the debt, or taxes, or even Suez?

We are not alone in this moment of weakness. I listened to a little bit of a speech made by Sir Anthony Eden and how I wished that I might have been his ghost-writer. For Eden had a claim on the sympathy of the world. He risked his career because he had opposed Mussolini; he resigned his cabinet post because he had opposed appeasing Hitler when it was fashionable to appease Mussolini and Hitler. Did he remind the world that he was right when most people were wrong? Not he. He let the electric moment pass.

I cite this because most of the political speeches this year are not inspired documents. There is a dullness in the world—it is here, it seems to be everywhere except in Cairo where the new dictator flaunts his power and his new allies to the world.

Are people tired? Is that what has happened? Were they too tired to register? Are they too tired to think of what is happening to their country and their civilization? Have we become a nation of television watchers who sit in darkened rooms and look at others do things while we do nothing? It could be.

"Why Won't It Explode?"

Moscow Likes Stevenson's H-Bomb Proposal

By David Lawrence

without reference to any other phase of the disarmament program.

The Stevenson proposal, as he now explains it, is, therefore, what Soviet Russia really wants. And Mr. Sobelov says that, if the tests of the big bomb are stopped, Russia believes "this might be the first step toward a system of disarmament and eventual prohibition of the nuclear weapons."

No Assurance

There is, of course, no way of being assured that Soviet Russia would keep her agreement unless there was an inspection arrangement to make it foolproof. Scientists differ as to whether H-bomb explosions can be concealed. But Soviet Russia's position nevertheless has been given a big boost by Mr. Stevenson's latest proposals.

No matter what the outcome of the presidential election in the United States next month—even if Mr. Stevenson gets 27,000,000 votes as he did last time and Mr. Eisenhower gets 30,000,000—the Communist regime in Moscow will be able to point to a divided America. The argument would be made by Soviet Russia's propagandists that there were 27,000,000 persons who voted to ban H-bomb tests and to back up the Democratic nominee's position as against that of a man who had won the election. If, indeed, Mr. Stevenson wins, the Soviet propagandists will hail it joyously as a victory for their position on the banning of H-bomb tests.

This sort of division, which can be exploited abroad, is exactly what "bi-partisanship" in foreign policy was supposed to prevent. But Mr. Stevenson today is not alone in making H-bomb tests an issue. He is backed up by several Democratic sena-

Tennessee Congressman Chides News Leaks About Salk Vaccine

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Courtly Carroll Reece, the conscientious congressman from the mountains of Eastern Tennessee, had some things to say about this writer during the recent probe of Salk vaccine prices.

Originally Reece had not planned to attend the investigation of Salk vaccine held by Congressman L. H. Fountain (D., N. C.), but changed his mind after he read some advance news on the probe in this column.

"I take no exceptions to the newspaper columnist using the information which he obtained," Reece declared as the committee hearing convened. "What concerned me was how a confidential memorandum got in the hands of the newspapers which contained conjectures on the part of members of the committee staff, before the members of the committee, or at least before I, as ranking minority member had an opportunity not only to read the memorandum, but I did not even know such a study was under way I was amazed by it."

Other Leaks

"Mr. Reece, I am delighted that you were able to be here," commented Congressman Fountain. "With respect to the Pearson story, I did not know about it until yesterday. I am confident that no member of our staff gave out any information to Mr. Pearson. I certainly did not, and I am surprised at the content of the story."

"This is not the first time that there have been various 'leaks' to the press," noted Rep. Chet Holifield (D., Calif.). "Mr. Pearson does seem to have a very unusual ability to obtain information on a variety of subjects. Personally, I do not know how he obtains it, but he does have great reader interest throughout the nation and apparently it is based on his ability to obtain information and put it in his columns."

"I am not making any criticism of Mr. Pearson," explained Reece. "I have a very high regard for his ability as a newspaperman. I also knew his father and any man who had as fine a father as Drew Pearson had could not be all bad."

"Mr. Chairman, I think we should get along with the hearings," suggested Rep. Holifield.

Whereupon the investigation began, showing how six vaccine manufacturers had quoted almost identical prices to the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, also how the State of Illinois had bought vaccine from a wholesale drug distributor for only $6.63 a vial, though the federal government was paying $7.12 direct to the manufacturers.

NOTE — Testimony by James Bradshaw Mintener, assistant secretary of HEW, revealed that Mintener had told senators last year that the price quoted to Uncle Sam by the manufacturers was a fair one.

Nicar Cover-Up

Democrats have been claiming the Republican press covers up. However, it took the President himself to block the Republican Chicago Daily News from getting the facts about Len Hall's political wire-pulling in the smelly Nicaro contract in Cuba.

For months it's been suspected that Hall, who as chairman of the Republican National Committee is not permitted under law to get campaign contributions from government contractors, had illegally barged into one of the biggest contracts let by Government Services Administration — the new nickel plant in Cuba.

However, the file on the Nicaro contract negotiations has been carefully stacked away in the Justice Department where Attorney General Brownell has refused to release any part of it to Congressional investigators. So William McGaffin of the Chicago Daily News finally went over Brownell's head to President Eisenhower, and the following conversation took place.

William McGaffin:—A House subcommittee has been trying for months to obtain a file of confidential material relating to the government nickel plant expansion in Cuba. The allegation has been made that the Department of Justice, which has the file, is simply sitting on it because it would embarrass your administration if made public.

Is there any prospect that this matter will be cleared up any time soon?

President Eisenhower:—You had better go and ask first the attorney general as to why he is sitting on this particular thing that you say he is sitting on, and then after you have gotten all you can out of him, why probably I will be able to add some light to it.

McGaffin:—Sir, I already have asked the attorney general.

President Eisenhower:—You go and tell him that I asked you to see.

Ike Sides with Brownell

McGaffin, however, was not to be discouraged. He went to the Justice Department, got a further run-around, and then came back to the President of the United States. However Ike was smart. He was not going to help get the goods on the chairman of his Republican National Committee. For, under the law, Len Hall could go to jail for suggesting that a government contractor make a political contribution.

Here is the further press conference of May 23:

McGaffin:—Mr. President, I got a statement from the attorney general at your suggestion but I don't feel it has cleared up a question I put to you about certain documents (regarding the Nicaro nickel plant in Cuba) which the Justice Department is refusing to turn over to an investigating subcommittee of Congress.

It has been charged that the Justice Department has no right to withhold these documents and that this is another example of the executive branch of the government blocking the right of Congress and the people to know.

In this particular case the original documents are missing mysteriously so Congress cannot subpoena them.

President Eisenhower:—It seems to me you conducted an investigation on your own. (Laughter.) I called up, got in touch with the Justice Department on that point. They said this: That an investigation is going ahead. To this moment they have found nothing that justifies any action further than continued investigation, and until that investigation is complete, they follow their policy of revealing no information. That's all.

The Crop Situation

By Roger Babson

BABSON PARK, Mass. — As far as crop production is concerned, American farmers have done an outstanding job in recent years, despite acreage controls and in some sections unfavorable growing conditions. Although I do not look for a record total output this year, it should not be far under the relatively high level of 1955.

Summer Results

Wheat did somewhat better this season than last, but the total indicated crop was 16 per cent under the 1945-54 average of 1,148,289,000 bushels. However, we can get along well enough for a while without billion-bushel wheat crops, since the bread grain at present constitutes one of the major surplus farm commodities. The U. S. carryover last July 1 topped one billion bushels, but much of it was in government hands. The loan program will again siphon a substantial portion of the current crop out of commercial channels. This fact is a favorable sign.

Most of the other, summer-harvest crops did fairly well, with oats perhaps the major exception. Although the output was the smallest since 1945, total supplies should suffice. Ample supplies of barley and flaxseed will be available for the 1956-57 season. The barley crop was the fourth, and the flaxseed crop the second, largest of record. Farmers this year produced the third largest hay crop ever, but spot supplies in drought-stricken areas may be tight from time to time. I expect grain and hay prices to average higher over the longer term.

Corn, Soybeans Outlook

There is no question as to the adequacy of corn for the current season. The above-average 1956 crop, plus the large carryover from previous years, spells record total supplies. Since the government owns a controls more than 1,000,000,000 bushels, and since I forecast that a sizable portion of the 1956 crop will enter the loan, free stocks need not prove burdensome. While moderate price weakness is likely during heavy shipments this fall, the market should average higher as the season advances. The U. S. 1956 soybean crop is by far the largest on record, and will exceed total requirements by a wide margin. Just how much downward pressure these heavy supplies will exert on prices remains to be seen. The test should come soon, with marketings at their seasonal peak. The government loan, which averages $2.15 a bushel on the farm, could buttress prices. Growers and processors have discussed the problem of heavy soybean supplies with the government, and further government moves may be made to help prices.

Cotton, Other Fall Crops

The 1956 U. S. cotton crop, now being harvested, is not burdensome, since indications are that domestic consumption and exports will exceed it. Although the carryover last August 1 was huge — around 14,500,000 bales — a large part of this reserve was in government hands and will not now glut commercial channels. The good present demand, plus the influence of the CCC loan, could strengthen cotton prices. The indicated dry bean crop is not far from average and should suffice for needs. "The rice output is somewhat above average, but need not prove burdensome. I now forecast that prices of both these items will work higher over the longer term. The late potato crop is on the heavy side, but the government's diversion program should prevent any drastic price decline this fall.

A Glance Ahead

The course of farm prices is vital not only to farmers themselves, but to the nation. The trend has been moderately downward for several months, but the drop from mid-August to mid-September was only 0.5 per cent. While further, slight near-term weakness is possible, the future is uncertain. Concerning the problem of farm surpluses, acreage controls and the Soil Bank program could prove quite helpful for awhile; but fear we have not yet found the ultimate solution. I do not know how farmers feel about the coming Presidential election, but I hope they will honor the dictates of their conscience and keep the welfare of the country as a whole clearly in mind.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Democrats want to get in to correct the Republican mistakes from 1952 to 1956. The Republicans claim they're still patching up the Democratic bloopers from 1932 to 1952.

Politics make strange bed-fellows and causes odder sleep-walking. Do you remember the municipal dog catcher who got elected truant officer? And put in a bill for a larger net?

Lincoln said you haven't got time to fool all the people one at a time. But we know a mayor who had two terms as crooked as Chinese writing. Then he ran for third term on the reform ticket.

A nation-wide poll of bus stops tabulates more Democrats than Republicans. At least waiting for buses.

But those polls aren't always accurate. If you checked hoof-prints in a brickyard you'd swear there were a million mules instead of just one.

If there are more Democrats than Republicans they should win. It's going to be a quiet election now that those Kentucky poll-watchers have put silencers on their shot-guns.

Too bad you cannot split the ticket like Stevenson and Nixon. Or Eisenhower and Kefauver. We'd be sure of non-partisan cornerstone laying and impartial bridge openings.

Don't overlook the fellow whose lapels are for both parties. You can't say he hasn't got all his buttons.

Cause Of Common Cold Still Eludes Detection

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

"The more we know, the less we know" is applicable to the common cold. As a result, many individuals regard the state of our knowledge of this disease as confused rather than scientific. Years ago, the disorder was less complex. Anyone with the sniffles, a sore throat, or cough had a cold, and the diagnosis was not questioned by the layman or the medical profession.

Gradually, terms like the flu and strep throat were employed, as scientists learned to distinguish one from another. Influenza was easy to recognize when it resembled the 1918 type. But each physician had his own idea of what constituted the flu. All too often the terms were used interchangeably with the common cold, catarrhal fever, or other respiratory disease.

The only persons who knew were the bacteriologists in certain laboratories who were sampling throat cultures of students and other volunteers year after year. They had a good idea of the types of bacteria and viruses, rife in their community, that were causing mine-run and epidemic respiratory infections.

These years of study produced results. We now know that numerous viruses are responsible for infections of the nose and throat. Every time a new one is discovered, bacteriologists hope it will prove to be the causative agent of the common cold. But the cold virus continues to escape detection, possibly because it is the tiniest of the lot.

A host of viruses have been found that are responsible for specific respiratory infections. The APC (adenoid - pharyngeal-conjunctivitis) viruses are examples. They are widely prevalent in our general population, are easily transmitted from one person to another, and cause symptoms indistinguishable from the common cold, influenza, and strep throat.

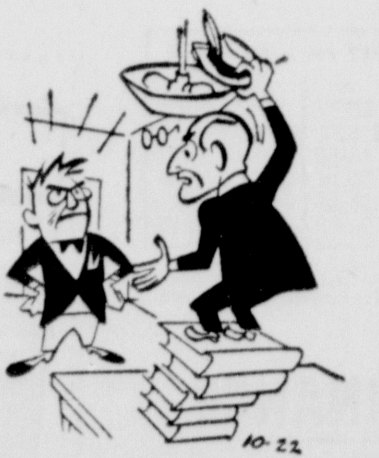

There are 17 distinct types of APC viruses. Type 3 causes a five-day illness characterized by fever, sore throat, and red eye. Ten years ago, anyone with these manifestations would have been content with a diagnosis of a

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

A faculty member of an up-state school, carried away by the fall fashion supplements, appeared for classes one morning wearing a spanking new hat with a cocky red feather tucked in the ribbon. His colleagues, dazzled and somewhat resentful, demanded that the dignified principal take action.

The best idea said dignified principal could come up with was to climb atop a pile of books on the table and secure the hat to the light fixture in the ceiling. He was still balancing himself in his precarious perch when the owner of the hat marched in. The principal blushed, and spluttered. "I suppose you'll be darn fool enough to thing I did this: Poor Lung Fin, laundryman, was flattened by an automobile as he attempted to cross Mott Street—but he went down with flying collars.

Chicago Cards And Detroit Win 4th Straight In NFL

Layne's Field Goal Defeats Frisco, 20-17

55,662 See Lions Win; Cassidy Grinds Out Most Yardage

DETROIT, Oct. 21 (AP)—Quarterback Bobby Layne kicked a 17-yard field goal with 17 seconds left to play and the Detroit Lions swept to their fourth successive National Football League triumph today 20-17, over the San Francisco 49ers.

The 49ers chose a reckless route and the Lions capitalized on two Frisco gambles that failed to pay off, to claim the victory before 55,662 wildly cheering fans in Briggs Stadium.

It was San Francisco's third loss against only one victory.

After Layne missed a 23-yard field goal with a little more than three minutes left in the contest, 49er quarterback Y.A. Tittle tried a long pass but Detroit's Yale Lary intercepted on the Lion 35.

With Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy grinding out most of the yardage as the seconds ticked away, Detroit drove to the Frisco 9 before Layne dropped back and placed the ball squarely between the uprights.

Earlier in the contest it was a fourth down gamble that led to Detroit's third period touchdown, putting the game in a 17-17 deadlock. San Francisco with a 17-10 lead, moved from its 23 to its 41.

Halfback John Henry Johnson and Joe Perry smashed three times into the Detroit line but could not get the necessary yardage for a first down.

The Lions promptly moved 41 yards in six plays with Layne sneaking over from the two, then kicking the extra point that tied the score.

The 49ers scored earlier in the third period, traveling 74 yards in nine plays. A 33-yard run by Perry and a 28-yard jaunt by Hugh McElhenny set up the Frisco score.

Peter and Paul defeated St. Patrick's 13-0. Phil Barbe toted the ball over from the five for the first score and Carroll Wilt recovered a fumble in the air and sprinted 50 yards for the second td. Bill Stakem, who intercepted a pass and ran 30 yards, also scored the extra point for the winners.

The fourth contest featured Mighty Mite eleven ended in a scoreless deadlock.

Rallying in the final period to pull the game out of the fire, the unbeaten Park Punks rolled to their 7th straight victory in the local Touch Football League by beating Mysteria yesterday at Penn Avenue Field by the score of 24-18.

Trailing, 12-6 going into the final quarter, the league leaders scored thrice to bag the decision. Ronnie Cage threw a pair of touchdown passes, good for 12 and 35 yards, to Bob Lookabaugh and "Ducky" Perdwes sprinted 44 yards for the final rally. A 83-yard run by Perdwes gave the Punks their initial score, Ozzie Osborn accounted for all of Mysteria's scores, the first on a pass from Jack Shackleford that covered 45 yards, the second on a 33-yard punt return and the third on an aerial from Winston Cave that netted 53 yards.

Little Egypt remained one game off the pace by whipping Tri-State, 18-6. Pat Mickey returned a punt 45 yards for the losers' only score. Roy Manges passed to Kline for 33 yards, to "Pete" Wagaley for 23 yards and to Whisner for 13 yards for Little Egypt's six points.

A safety in the second period was the margin of Victory as Poling's Market eked out a 26-24 decision over Post Playground. Cover tackled Teets in the end zone for the winning points.

Poling's touchdowns were scored on a 12-yard pass play executed by John Poling and Galen McGregor. Neal Toey's pass to John Poling that netted 43 yards. Poling's pass to Ed Downton, good for 17 yards and Dave Ritter's aerial that hit Ed Downton and gained 5 yards. Ed Parsons snared Lou Met's 19-yard throw for Post's initial score. Lou Met intercepted a pass and galloped 28 yards, Metz's pass to R. Lewis covered 42 yards and Stan Teets grabbed a Metz special and hoofed 23 yards.

Conerly Star As Giants Win Over Steelers

Chuck Hurls Trio Of Passes For TDs In 38-10 Triumph

NEW YORK, Oct. 21 (AP)—It was a new home season in a new park for the "new look" New York Giants but it was an old hand, 32-year-old Charlie Conerly, who led them to a 38-10 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers in a National Football League game today at Yankee Stadium.

A crowd of 48,108, largest ever to watch a Giant opener, saw Conerly celebrate his team's switch from the Polo Grounds to the park across the Harlem River by throwing for three touchdowns and setting up another with long-range bulls' eye passing to a half dozen different receivers.

The former Mississippi great, in his 10th season in professional football, was never better. He completed 14 of 24 passes for 202 yards, which included a 14-yard touchdown heave to Ken McAfee, a 21-yard scoring throw to Al Webster and a 27-yard payoff pass to Kyle Rote. In addition, Chuckie Charlie set up a touchdown by Frank Gifford with a 19-yard aerial to Bob Schnelker and a 31-yarder to Gifford that moved the Giants inside Pittsburgh's 10-yard line.

Conerly had plenty of help from Webster and Gifford, who between them, gained 160 of their team's 247 rushing yards. It was strictly no contest once the Giants' attack started to roll in the second period as they overcame an early 3-0 Pittsburgh lead.

Pittsburgh, in front for a few fleeting moments in Gary Glick's field goal late in the first period, did not score again until the last quarter when Ted Marchibroda hit Elbie Nickel with a short pass in the end zone.

Pittsburgh ..... 3 0 0 7-10
New York ..... 0 17 14 7-38
Pittsburgh scoring—Touchdown: Nickel (2, pass from Marchibroda), Field goal: Glick (35), Conversion: Glick.

New York scoring—Touchdowns: McAfee (14, pass from Conerly); Webster (21, pass, run from Conerly); Gifford (1, plunge); Rote (27, pass from Conerly); Filipki (35, run). Field goal: Agagianian (17). Conversions: Agagianian 5.

Don Newcombe Blasted, Japan All-Stars Win

Pitcher Makes Hasty Exit In 6-1 Contest

TOKYO, Oct. 21 (AP)—Don Newcombe received another early battering today as the Japan All-Stars, perhaps the strongest Japanese team ever assembled, whipped the Brooklyn Dodgers 6-1 in an exhibition game. It was the National League champions' second loss in three games against teams from Japan.

The All-Stars, nearly all 300-plus hitters from this baseball nation's two major leagues, knocked Newcombe from the mound with four hits, including a home run, in the first inning. Before Ed Roebuck could retire the side, the Stars had scored four runs.

Newcombe stormed from the mound and glumly left the stadium by taxi. It was believed to be the first time a visiting U.S. major league team has lost two games to a Japanese team.

The hard-hitting Japanese collected four runs in the first on a homer by Yasumitsu Toyoda, most valuable player of the Japan World Series, and singles by Futoshi Nakanishi, Tetsuji Kawakami, Kazuhiro Yamachi and Masao Morishita.

All but Morishita's hit were off Newcombe. Brooklyn's lone run came in the fourth when catcher Roy Campanella doubled into deep center to send across Gil Hodges, who had drawn a walk.

An overflow crowd of more than 40,000 watched the game.

Rockville Residents

Protest Clogged Ditch

Commissioner C. N. Wilkinson reported on Friday at the meeting of the Board of County Commissioners that a number of persons living on the road in Rockville near Lonaconing have protested to him that county road workers have cut weeds along the road and have thrown them in the ditches, clogging the drainage.

Commissioner Wilkinson moved that the pipes under the road be opened to improve drainage, but the motion died for want of a second. Persons who told him about the condition, the commissioner stated, were Marshall Martin, a Mr. and Mrs. McConnell, Laverna Condon, a Mrs. Morton, May Robertson and Charles Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Kitzmiller of Barton wrote to ask the county commissioners for help. They said their neighbor, Edward Pyzell, was talking about enclosing his land. That would shut up the Kitzmiller's only way of getting in and out of their property, and they would have to crawl under Pyzell's gate, they said. The matter was referred to County Roads Supervisor J. Walker Chapman.

Red Boss Hit

Bulgarian had written that Secretary Dulles "does not hesitate to make direct attacks against the Soviet Union and its peace-loving foreign policy."

"... You seem to impugn my own sincerity," Eisenhower did not elaborate on this point but newsmen thought he might have referred to a Bulgarian statement that discussion of disarmament and other matters in the American election campaign "acquires the form of a polemic"—an argument or controversy.

2 Die, 3 Injured In Western Md. Accidents

Pedestrian Killed, Girl Is Drowned

Accidents on highways of Allegany and Garrett counties over the weekend brought violent death to two persons, including a high school student who drowned when the car in which she was riding plunged into Deep Creek Lake.

Three persons were hospitalized as a result of one of the accidents.

The two fatal accidents occurred about half an hour apart, claiming the lives of Warren Lee Hice, 57, of Box 561, Mt. Savage, who was hit by an auto at Barrelville, and Miss Neva Louise Bowers, 16, of the Deer Park area, who drowned in the lake.

Admitted to Garrett County Memorial Hospital at Oakland early yesterday morning were Carroll Eston Broadwater, 19, of Deer Park, driver of the car in which Miss Bowers was a passenger; Caroline Long, 14, of McHenry; and Linda Dunithan, 16, of Oakland.

The three injured persons were reported in "good" condition last night. Broadwater sustained a possible fractured larynx, while Miss Long sustained head injuries and multiple cuts and bruises. Miss Dunithan suffered a compound fracture of her left wrist and multiple cuts and bruises.

Car Hits Bridge

Police said Broadwater was driving north on U. S. 219 when the car failed to make a curve, struck Deep Creek Bridge 10 miles north of Oakland, and plunged into the lake.

The car was covered by about two feet of water. Dr. Thomas Lusby, assistant Garrett County medical examiner, said Miss Bowers died of drowning. She also had fractures of both legs and severe lacerations of the neck and chin.

Trooper First Class Robert Henline of the State Police said the accident happened at about 12:30 a. m. at the south end of the bridge.

In the Barrelville accident, State Police said Hice was struck by a car driven by George E. Wilhelm, 19, RFD 1, Hyndman. Wilhelm was lodged in County Jail for questioning this afternoon in the State's Attorney's office.

Pedestrian Struck

Tic. D. A. Tucker, who investigated the accident on State Route 36 about 11:50 p. m. Saturday, said Wilhelm saw Hice walking along the highway in Barrelville. He swerved to the left, but was unable to avoid striking Hice.

Wilhelm was reported to have left the scene and was later apprehended.

No charges have been placed against Wilhelm pending the completion of the investigation.

Mr. Hice, who was employed as a millwright at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant here, was born in Mt. Savage January 26, 1899, and was a son of the late Charles A. and Margaret E. (Jenkins) Hice.

He was a member of St. George Episcopal Church, Mt. Savage, and of the Volunteer Fire Company.

Surviving besides his widow, Mrs. Erma (McCormick) Hice, are two sons, Ste. Arthur E. Hice, with the Army in Germany, and Charles A. Hice, of Mt. Savage.

Also surviving are a stepson, John S. Allen, city, three brothers, Arthur E. and George T. Hice, of Philadelphia; Cecil E. Hice, El Paso, Texas, and six grandchildren.

The body is at the residence.

High School Student
Miss Bowers, who was a student at Southern High School, was president of the Junior Class and was vice president of the Future Homemakers of America.

She was taking a stenographic course at high school where she took part in a number of activities. Miss Bowers was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Bowers.

Besides her parents, she is survived by a brother, Ronald, at home; her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Shreve, Gorman, W. Va., and her paternal grandmother, Mrs. James Bowers, of near Deer Park.

She was a member of Mount Bethel United Brethren Church near Swanton, where a funeral service will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m.

The body is at the Leighton Funeral Home in Oakland, where it will remain until noon tomorrow, when it will be taken to the church.

Romney Man Is Killed In Rt. 28 Crash

Hitchhiker Is Among Injured

A 39-year-old Romney, W. Va., resident was killed early last night in a highway crash about two miles north of Romney on State Route 28.

Three persons, including a hitchhiker, were injured.

West Virginia State Police identified the victim as William Thomas Shroud. He sustained a broken neck in the accident, which occurred about 6 p. m.

The driver of the car, Willard "Chub" Cox and Ivan Brown, both of Romney, were given medical treatment and are lodged in Hampshire County jail at Romney for questioning today by Sgt. Robert E. Schnell, investigating officer.

A hitchhiker, "Buck" Denmark, of Romney, who was riding in the bed of the pickup truck, also was injured but was not hospitalized. Police said Cox was driving the truck toward Romney when it apparently went out of control.

The vehicle careened to the left of the highway, struck a parked car and continued on into some trees located along the road.

Shroud was thrown from the truck, police added. His body is at the Shaffer Funeral Home in Romney.

Local Employers are reminded by C. I. Fox, district director of Internal Revenue for the Baltimore District, which comprises Maryland and District of Columbia, that three types of taxes are due by October 31.

The taxes are due for the three months ending September 30, 1956, from the following:

1—Employers who file quarterly federal tax returns, Form 941. This combined return is for reporting withholding and Social Security taxes on employees for the third quarter.

2—Employers who have domestic servants such as cooks, janitors, maids, chauffeurs, and other workers who perform services of a household nature, are subject to Social Security taxes (Form 942) if $50 or more was paid in wages in the third quarter of 1956.

3—Returns from persons liable for quarterly excise tax returns (Form 720) are due October 31, 1956. Excise taxes include taxes on facilities and services, manufacturing excise taxes and taxes on products and commodities.

Where the withholding, Social Security and excise taxes exceed $100.00 a month, the depository receipt system must be used. Failure to do so will result in a civil penalty.

Few Voters Bother To Cast Ballots On Special Issues

Personalities on the ballot in the past two general elections have proved of much more interest to the voters of Allegany County than the special issues decided upon in proposed amendments to the State Constitution.

In 1952 and 1954, the average vote in the three

Teachers Favor Increased Pay, Integration

BALTIMORE, Oct. 21 (AP)—Maryland teachers were on record today in favor of higher salaries for their profession and racial integration in public education.

About 14,000 of them registered for the three-day annual convention of the Maryland State Teachers Assn., which adopted resolutions on these proposals before adjourning yesterday.

Another resolution called for replacing teachers who already hold emergency certificates to teach but fail to qualify for regular certificates.

In adopting the statement on integration, the association backed up the stand of its 440-member representative assembly.

"Integration in this State," said the resolution, "should be effected in a fair and lawful manner." It said "all educators in Maryland" had been invited to join MSTA.

"We recommend that teachers, pupils and other citizens throughout the State cooperate in effecting this change."

Miss Violet Davis of Street, Md., elementary supervisor of Harford County schools, was elected president of the association to succeed Paul B. Stevens of Baltimore.

Other newly elected officers included E. G. Jewell, principal of Rockville Junior High, vice president; Joseph T. Barlow, principal of Oakleigh Elementary School, Baltimore County, treasurer; Mrs. Virginia Bowen, principal of Huntington Elementary School, Calvert County, and Thomas Jefferson, principal of Lewisdale Elementary School, Prince Georges County, members-at-large of the executive committee.

One of those 1954 measures which got a slim unfavorable vote was an amendment to Section 3 and Section 21 of Article 4 of the Constitution of Maryland creating additional judgeships. This amendment which was approved on the state-wide level by a vote of 138,252 for to 87,846 against gave Garrett County a judge of its own and will drop Allegany County from (Continued on Page 9)

Today's Sermonette

Today's sermonette is a digest of a sermon preached by Rev. George T. C. Bell, pastor of McKendree Methodist Church. The sermon digests are being prepared through the cooperation of the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

What shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul.

The Eternal Worth Of Man

By REV. GEORGE T. C. BELL
Man is of eternal worth in the goodness and faithfulness of his character. The "well done" of the Master is the great reward of the Christian life. That life is one of whole-minded and whole-hearted service. We are to be good and faithful in our several callings. The world would differ in its idea of greatness. It often sneers at goodness. It often belittles fidelity. The world strives after temporal fame, indulges in the pleasures of the flesh, and rebels against discipline.

The modern conceit is thinking that we are entitled to change the rules of living. Who are we? The same in our human nature as men who lived before us. Beneath the surface of our changing world is the fact of unchanging man. Only God in Christ can change human nature. Moderns face the old experience, old problems, old questions, the victories, solutions, answers, lie within. Man needs more than all else the forgiveness of sin. Dr. C. G. Jung, a noted psychologist in his book, "Modern Man in Search of a Soul," wrote: "During the past 30 years people from all the civilized countries of the earth have consulted me... Among my patients in second half of life—that is to say, those over 35—there has not been one of whose problem in the last resort was not that of finding a religious outlook on life. It is safe to say that every one of them fell ill because he had lost that which the living religions of every age have given to their followers, and none has been really healed who did not regain his religious outlook." Well may we say with the poet: "I need, now as then, Thee, God, who mouldst men."

In an old book there is a man who had a mania for building towers. He succeeded at last in building one tower with eleven thousand stairs. Just as he was about to congratulate himself upon his accomplishment, he looked up and saw the stars. Man cannot build beyond God! We cannot build unto ourselves, and get by. To build life with God is the eternal worth of man. The colossal failure of man is the failure to do what is right.

Both Senate Candidates Comment On Polish Move

Mahoney Suggests Soviet Empire May Be Cracking

BALTIMORE, Oct. 21 (AP)—George P. Mahoney, Democratic senatorial candidate, said today what is taking place in Poland "may be the beginning of the break-up of the Soviet Empire."

"If successful," he said, it "would greatly lessen the threat of war which must hang over the world as long as that despotic empire remains intact."

In a campaign statement, Mahoney credited the Polish upheaval to a foreign policy he said was begun by the Democrats and continued by the Republicans. He said his opponent in the Nov. 6 election, Republican Sen. John Marshall Butler, opposed this policy.

Said Mahoney: "All observers agree that the Soviets' troubles in Poland grow out of the Yugoslav continued show of independence toward the Kremlin. It has been part of American foreign policy, commenced by the Democrats and continued by President Eisenhower in the face of opposition from the Nixon-Knowland-Butler wing of his own party, to foster this spirit of 'Titoism' or independence."

"Our principal means to this end has been aid to Yugoslavia, which has made that country dependent upon us rather than the Russians for military supplies and fostered a split among the Reds."

Mahoney said Sen. Butler voted with 22 other Republicans June 28 to "deprive President Eisenhower of all discretion in the matter of terminating or continuing aid to Tito."

Mahoney spent the day visiting public gatherings in the Baltimore area. Tomorrow he will attend the Democrats' $25-a-plate dinner at the Prince George's Country Club near Washington.

Veterinarian Lands Plane In Treetop

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va., Oct. 21 (AP)—Dr. David L. Paice of Hagerstown, Md., found himself flying in the dark tonight with only 10 minutes of fuel remaining and no radio contact with the nearest airfield.

So he brought his plane down on a treetop, climbed down to the ground and calmly walked to State Police headquarters here.

Paice, a veterinarian for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, was flying back to Hagerstown from Columbus, Ohio, where he had gone to see a football game. He said he was blown south of his course, had lost sight of the Hagerstown Airport beacon and could not reach the Martinsburg, W. Va., Airport on his radio.

"It's surprising the amount of damage that was not done," Paice said. The forced landing caused about $300 worth of damage, he estimated.

He said he suffered a small bump on the head and a few scratches from sliding down the tree.

Only an hour after the landing, he was already making plans to cut down three trees in order to recover his plane.

Trace Of Rain Ends 'Drought' Of 14 Days

The trace of rain which fell here early yesterday evening ended a 14-day "drought," according to Robert R. Golden, local weather observer.

Golden said yesterday's rain ended the longest period the city has gone without rain since last December, when 10 days were recorded without any precipitation.

The city and surrounding area has been experiencing an Indian Summer during the past two weeks. The last rain fell on Saturday, October 6. The total rainfall for the month is 1.12 inches.

Today's weather forecast calls for cloudy skies with a chance of showers later in the day.

On the morning following the contest, Governor McKeldin visited Washington and presented the

Butler Proposes UN Act To Prevent Russian Action

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 (AP)—Sen. John Marshall Butler (R-Md.) today proposed that the United Nations act to prevent "Russian interference... with the internal affairs of Poland."

Butler, a candidate for re-election Nov. 6, sent a telegram to the United States representative to the UN, Henry Cabot Lodge.

It said: "Fragmentary reports from Poland indicate that the Polish government has taken a decisive step toward freeing the brave and gallant Polish people from the yoke of slavery imposed upon them by the dictators in the Kremlin."

"These events could well be the initial and decisive step in bringing Poland from behind the Iron Curtain. With overpowering Russian armies at the scene, I urge you to take immediate steps to bring the full force of the United Nations into action with the objective of preventing Russian interference, military or otherwise, with the internal affairs of Poland."

"All freedom loving people applaud this manifestation of the Polish people's deep longing to break the Russian chains that bind them."

Foley, running against Republican incumbent DeWitt S. Hyde for the Sixth District seat in Congress, will be guest of honor at a dinner before the rally. The dinner, scheduled for 6:30 p. m. at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, has been arranged by the Allegany County United Democratic Women's Clubs and the Allegany County Foley Committee.

Foley's day will start with breakfast at the Algonquin Hotel at 7:30 a. m. First stop on the tour will be the Sanitary Market in Westernport at 9 a. m.

Barton, president of Allegany County Young Democrats; Luther Hutter, past president, Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Maryland; William Walsh, a vice president of the Young Democrats of Allegany County and chairman of the Foley committee in this county; Joseph Nolan, Democratic worker; Richard J. Stakem, manager of Democratic headquarters here, and Edward J. Ryan, chairman of the district-wide Foley campaign advisory committee.

Cadets must be unmarried, but the new AOC program accepts applicants who are married and have families.

Qualified applicants for both programs will be sent to Pensacola, Fla., the "Annapolis of the Air," to undergo flight training. After 18 months flight training, Naval cadets will receive their wings and be commissioned as ensigns in the Naval Reserve or second lieutenants in the Marine Corps Reserve.

AOCs will receive their commissions as ensigns in the Naval Reserve upon completion of the first four months training and then continue through flight training as commissioned officers, after which they will receive their wings.

Local recruiters said several area men have expressed interest in both programs. Those interested may apply for interviews and information.

Ridgeley Area Man Hurt In Crash On Knobley Road

James Lambert, 36, of RD 1, Ridgeley, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital last night with injuries sustained in a car crash near Short Gap.

Attaches, who said he was in "fair" condition reported that Lambert apparently was thrown from the car and was taken to the hospital about 10:20 p. m. in the ambulance of the volunteer firemen of Fort Ashby.

Lambert complained of pain in his chest and was admitted for X-rays and observation. Full details of the crash were not learned late last night.

The accident was reported to have occurred about a mile south of Short Gap on Knobley Road.

The selection of the prize winners was made prior to an AWOL from Fort Riley, Kan. He will be turned over to Army authorities.

Civic Symphony To Open Season On November 20

Advance Ticket Sale Scheduled

The Cumberland Civic Symphony Orchestra will open its 11th consecutive season with a concert in Allegany High School auditorium Tuesday, November 20, Wilton Syckes, conductor, announced yesterday.

Syckes, now beginning his second season as conductor, was concert master of the community orchestra for nine seasons before succeeding his brother, S. Lua Syckes, as conductor.

The concert by the local orchestra will be the second opportunity during the month of November for music lovers to hear a program by a symphony orchestra in this city.

Baltimore Group To Play
For the second successive year the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra will present a concert in the Fort Hill High School auditorium Thursday, November 15, under sponsorship of the Cumberland Times-News.

Syckes believes the Baltimore orchestra's concert here will stimulate local interest in classical music and help, rather than hinder, the Cumberland Civic Symphony Orchestra's first concert of the season.

For the first time, too, the local orchestra is planning an advance ticket sale for the first concert. In past years an offering was collected during intermission but no admission was charged.

Church Groups To Help
The Men of Emmanuel, an organization of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, has agreed to help stimulate interest in the Cumberland orchestra by participating in the advance ticket sale. All members of the Men of Emmanuel will have tickets. They also are on sale at Syckes' music store, the S. T. Little Jewelry Company, and the LaVale Drug Store.

Syckes believes the advance ticket sale will help insure larger crowds at the orchestra's concert and will provide the orchestra a larger income than it now enjoys. Those who purchase tickets in advance are much more likely to attend the concert than those who have not invested any funds in tickets.

The 40-member orchestra has been rehearsing all summer at LaVale Fire Hall.

Navy Aviation Team To Visit Local Station

A Naval Aviation Cadet information team will be at the Cumberland Navy recruiting station today to interview candidates interested in the
